

Multi-Language Dictionary Content Extraction and Index Builder is a Java-based application to extract web content of pre-defined headwords and build the index for the Portable Learning Machine. A corresponding C++ search engine is also developed for the Portable Learning Machine use.